We've Got Lots Of Good

How to save money, good friends, and memories. But first, a few words about the products you'll find throughout this book.

They're made by us, the students of Greenfield High. That's why we do such a GREAT job. Our theme is what the year promises, that's what our product will deliver, "the good things under our roof."

You really don't need to spend a lot of money on special pictures. We've already done that for you.

Do this instead: Page through this book, circulate it throughout your friends, have them sign it, reminisce. Then, look at it again next week, next year, maybe twenty years from now. That's how to save money and memories.

Spring Play

Practice ballet steps, play xylophones, collect snakes, write plays and operate printing presses.

These are the crazy antics that take place in the "every-man-for-himself" room of the Vanderhof house. From March 24 to 27, "You Can't Take It With You," under the direction of Ms. Carol Konet, is guaranteed to make you wonder who's sane and who's insane.

1. "Well, I know father couldn't get along without Alice. She knows more about the business than any of us." (Dawn Carroll, Ted Champagne) 2. Miss DePinna (Gail Paprocki) explains the basics of skyrockets to Mr. Sycamore (Bryan Buchholtz) 3. Essie (Sally Nacker) limbers up for her dance lesson. 4. Alice (Denise Heiden) greets Ed (John Hettwer) with a kiss. 5. For dinner, the family shares a watermelon.

Prom

Crystal chandeliers. The red plush Regency Room. Grand door prizes, (a clock radio, passes to movies and gift certificates.) Live music (The Five of Us.) Your choice of Chicken a la kiev or New York strip steak. An evening of dancing. Refreshments served continuously. A chance to have a glamorous portrait taken of you and your date on the luxrious stairwell.

These memorable moments together could only happen at the Prom of '77, "Pieces of April", at the romantic Marc Plaza. The perfect setting for Greenfield's first out-of-school prom.

1977 Homecoming
A breath of fresh air.
You can count them on the fingers of one finger, all the schools like Greenfield. No other school can give you a choice like this.
The first taste of winter appeared on that cold October day. Even with the pink noses, red cheeks, and blue spotted knees, they had a good return of Hawk boosters cheering them on through all that mud and drizzle. In the last 30 seconds of the game, the Hawks inched by the New Berlin West Vikings for an eight to seven Homecoming victory.
There is one, and only one true production Homecoming crowd made in America. And Greenfield makes it. In unlimited numbers — for people who grew up dreaming of the day when they would win another Homecoming. Hawks, by Greenfield. The one. The only. And after almost two decades, 1977 Homecoming, still a breath of fresh air.

Five characters, two in love, prove the phrase "love is bliss" to be for the unwed, at least today.

October 22, Bob Feest, Sharon Abler, Chris Sarnow, Sherry Pappas and Natalie Wilhelm moved the wedding and the rice to Eisenhower High School. With wedding consultant/director Ms. Chris Schellin, the wedding party received a B rating at District Contest.

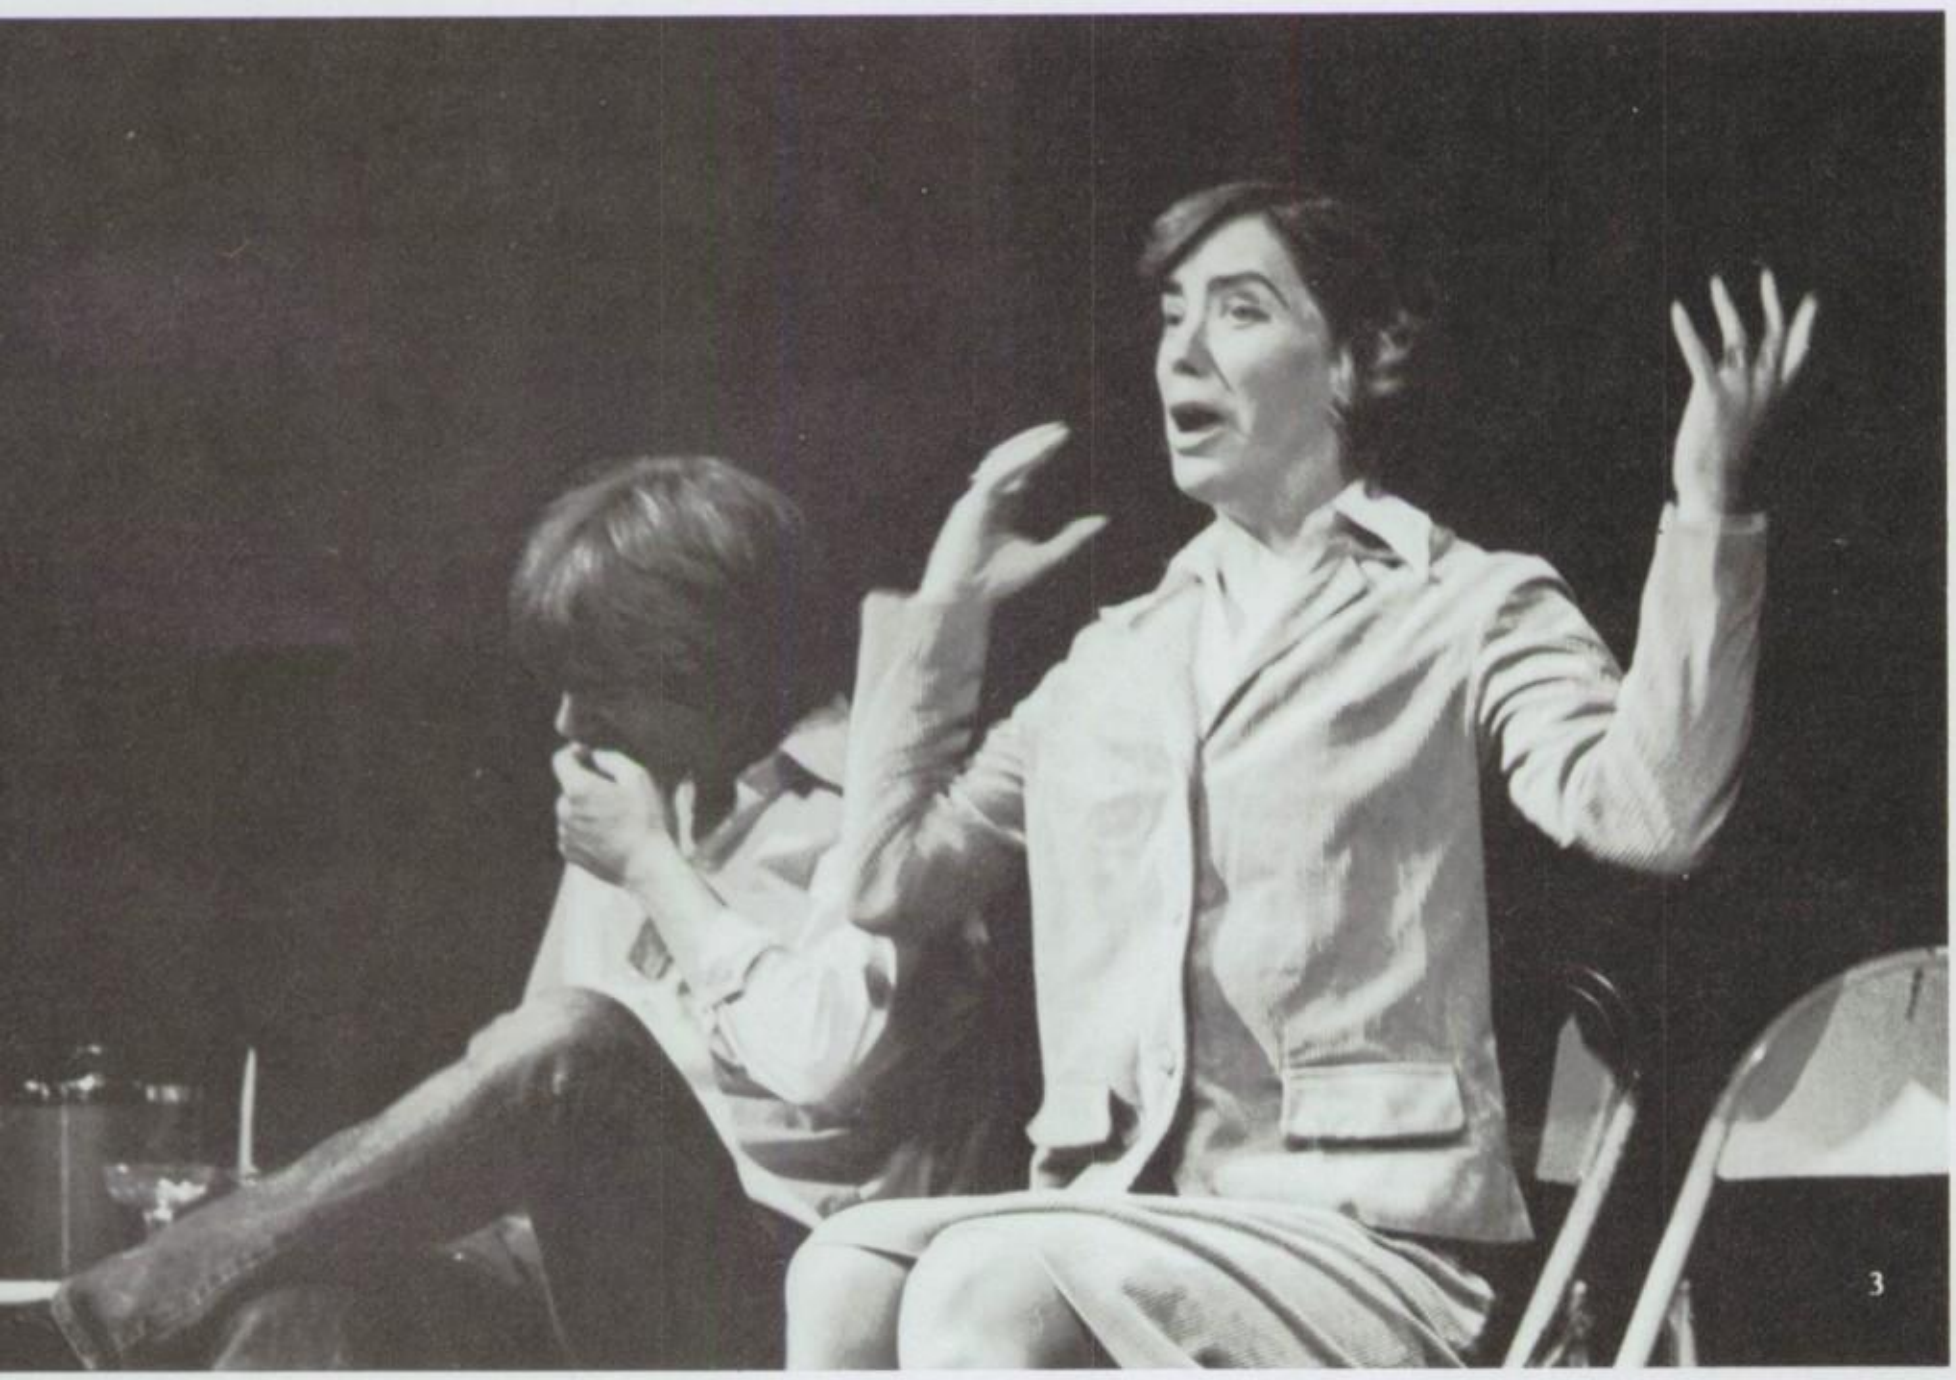
One Act



Sophomores

A year ago they were freshmen. One year of high school was behind them. Freshmen gym was over. Freshmen fears gone. The days of being called "frosh" were done with, the school year had ended. Then it happened.

The first day of school, the beginning of sophomore year. They entered school with relief-relief of not being freshmen. They were sophomores. They become friends. More than that, they became a team.

A team that experienced drivers Ed, sponsored Sadie Hawkins, received their class rings, built a homecoming float, and began planning Prom '79.

Next year they will be juniors and before we know it-SENIORS. Some will join the yearbook staff.

We, this year's Spectrum staff, wish them the best of luck. We hope that they will not experience the situation as we have ... of a photographer's absence at Sadie Hawkins.

Fall Play

"Mister Roberts." It's not just a play, it's an adventure. Come aboard the Ak601, and meet the crew. Mr. Roberts, a man with a strong desire to succeed. The Captain, whose pride and joy is a palm tree, awarded to him for the work the crew did. Lastly, the crew, with a strong desire for women and drink. Under the direction of Mr. Dave Dombrowski, they sailed you to strange and exciting ports on Nov. 17, 18 and 19. These men do a job that counts and you can count on them to do it. As you can see, Mister Roberts is not just another play, it's an adventure.

Breakthru

Since its introduction, Breakthru has become one of the leading literary magazines published by high school students in the state.

The reason: An increased flow of students creativity and the imaginative atmosphere that the class produces. Creative sparks drive its members to put their best efforts into poetry, prose, photography and artwork. Rewriting, retouching and refinishing over and over again, they put together a better magazine just for you.

Ecology Club

Taking the beauty of nature from outdoors and into the school area can be done without any kind of special equipment. Ecology club offers students this fun and purpose.

The club deals with nature-building birdhouses and feeders for the quad, beautifying the front of GHS and taking field trips to outdoor centers.

Let your nature emerge. Act now and give a hoot!

Frankly, not many students have ever taken a great interest in the GHS Science Club. But that hasn't stopped the club from providing quality entertainment. Why? Because its few members are reliable, interested, and outgoing.

Their devotion to the field of science is proved in many ways: They provide their services and financial aid to students entering the Marquette Science Fair. They perform two shows at the elementary schools, mixing magic and magnesium.

Advisor Mr. Don Gilpin and club members know it's not numbers, but quality that counts. And they prove how phosphorescent that quality can be.

Dixieland Band, Pep Band

Pep . . . Spirit . . . Cheers . . . Reliability . . . a responsible attitude. That's what makes a good pep band. And that's exactly what we have at Greenfield High — a pep band that adds spirit to every assembly, and adds life to every home game.

Esquires

If only the auditorium had a dance floor, then everyone would really get into the music. That's just what Esquires, the school's jazz and rock band intends to do. Under the direction of Mr. Van Domelen, Esquires perform at various concerts throughout the year.

Esquires are here to get you out of your chairs.

Colorguard

The day is gloomy, sky cloudy. It's raining. But no matter what, the flags will fly at Greenfield High.

It is a sure prediction that, when half-time comes, the color guard will march down the field with flags in their hands and pride in their hearts. Never will you see them do the same routine. To make sure, they practice after school to learn different twirls, whirls, swirls and helicopters.

No flags fly higher than in the friendly skies of Greenfield.

1. Nancy Dodd, Debbie Ksioszk, Lisa Pellman and Laurie Groth stand at ease during practice. 2. Helen Kadrich and Kathy Jorgensen discuss the basics of setting up the flags. 3. Pom Pons

Its halftime, and you get up and leave to find some friends or to take a quick cruise around the parking lot. But wait, the best is yet to come. Smiling and raring to go, the Pom Pon girls are ready to do a routine to pep band music.

Co-captains Robin Johnson and Julie Schneider lead the girls in routines. Adviser Mrs. Sue Mentkowski, awaits the girls to praise their routine. The girls smile and admit that all the hard work was worth it. So don't walk away during halftime, the best is yet to come!

Student Senate And Forum

One step. It's as easy as pointing and pushing a button. Most student senators wish it were as easy as the ad says when activities and changes develop. But most senators have found out that there's more than one angle to be considered in gettng things done. Maybe someday government will be as easy as one step, but it looks a long way off.

A major concern among Greenfield parents has become the "Back to Basics" issue. The question being asked is, "Are students getting enough instrauction in rudimentary skills such as reading and writing?" Assistant Superintendent Ronald Wojak feels the answer to this question is "yes." The high school offers a basic grammar course (English Usage), three writing courses (Composition I and II, and Writing for Personal Expression), and provides the Special Reading program for students with reading difficulties.

What, according to Mr. Wojak, is the real problem? It is "how do we get the kids to take the things they need?" The dilemma is that students would rather take courses they like, not ones to improve their weak spots. Being able to schedule their own classes provides students with an opportunity to take elective courses in the fields they most enoy. In response to this, Assistant Superintendent Wojak said, "I don't believe we owe a student seven classes that are absolutely sparkling and dynamic ....I don't like every aspect of my job; I don't know anyone who does."

So what is to be done? There are three alternatives. First, the system could stay the way it is and the administration could try to work out the problem areas. Or, some standards could be set up that a student must meet before he could take certain electives. Finally, students could be prohibited from choosing their own courses.

Mr. Wojak feels the second alternative is the most reasonable for GHS, but adds that this is a policy decision and will be discussed at the District's Needs Assessment Study that will begin soon. At that time, a system will be chosen that will hopefully benefit faculty and students alike.

Administration

What kind of student would you like to see graduating from GHS? When Principal Richard Roth was asked this question, he came up with five criteria he considered important.

It is necessary, he feels, for all students to leave with at least a minimum of basic skills. Teaching these skill is the primary function of the school. Next, he said, "I would like to see everybody measure up to his full potential; what he envisions for himself as an individual."

Mr. Roth hopes students develop a good character during their years in school. For him this means GHS would produce responsible, dependable people. A sense of patriotism, citizenship, and pride is important to the principal, too. He feels no one should be ashamed or afraid to express their beliefs before others.

Finally, Mr. Roth hopes that GHS students leave the school with a good self-concept; that they be happy with themselves as persons. However, he considers this quality to be the hardest to see among students at this time. Mr. Roth wants to work on this problem within the school system, and his goal is to have all classes conducted in such a way that students learn to feel more positively about themselves and their school. When this goal is accomplished, GHS will become a better place to learn and work for the faculty and administration, as well as the students.

In Memoriam
John Reichart

To many students at Greenfield High, band is simply a class that meets 5th hour to play songs. But to the people associated with band it is a whole lot more. The man who made it a whole lot more was Mr. John Reichart. Over the years, he taught and shaped a concept that is still going strong in band today. That concept is dedication.

Dedication to one's ability musically, dedication to the band as a whole, dedication to one's self.

John Reichart expected nothing less than the best effort from a student. J. R. would be the first to tell the student so. There were times when the group did not give 100% and J. R. would show his anger. There were times when the group gave their all and J. R. would show his pride.

John Reichart loved his music and his bands. It is because of this love, a love shared by all band students, that J. R. will always remain a part of Greenfield High School's Music Department.

Art

Although the Art Department curriculum hasn't changed over the past few years, the Art room itself is the scene of new developments. According to Jane Grzesk, Department Chairperson, this area is finally getting the necessary equipment to accomodate the variety of classes offered. There are new worktables, and plans for new display areas and a finished kiln room.

The current project the Department is involved in is the improvement of the front lobby. Ms. Grzesk, James Hinds and Ruth Teclaw have plans to liven up the entrance and to give students another reason to have pride in GHS. The showcase will then display the achievements of our resident artists, too.

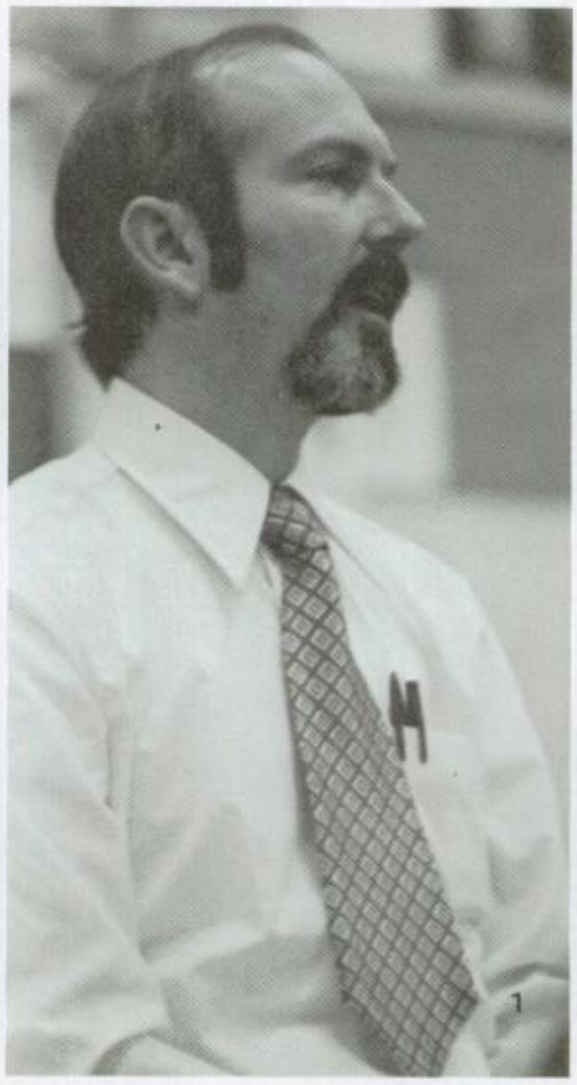
Band

You might think that with classes as large as those of band and chorus, the Music Department wouldn't be able to provide much individual help for students. Well, Choral Director Frank Dominguez can tell you differently. He says, "Individual differences are much more important to me now, after 20 years of teaching. I try to implement teaching methods more to this end." How does he do this? Mr. Dominguez watches his studnets' progress from the beginning; he looks for their strengths and weaknesses, has them sing one-oncore to check how well they harmonize, and, especially near Parkland Conference Music Contest time, has them work in small groups.



The same is true for Junior and Senior Bands, now under the direction of Robert VanDomelen. Besides meeting daily as a group, members have individual lessons to improve their playing skills and work on small group numbers for contest.

Not only do students work at their music, they have fun doing it! Senior Tami Martinsek can tell you why. "Your interests are dealt with to your satisfaction. Whether you're into jazz, classical, or contemporary music, you can find an enjoyable place to follow it . . ." Get involved with the Music Department programs — you'll really be able to "make your own kind of music!"

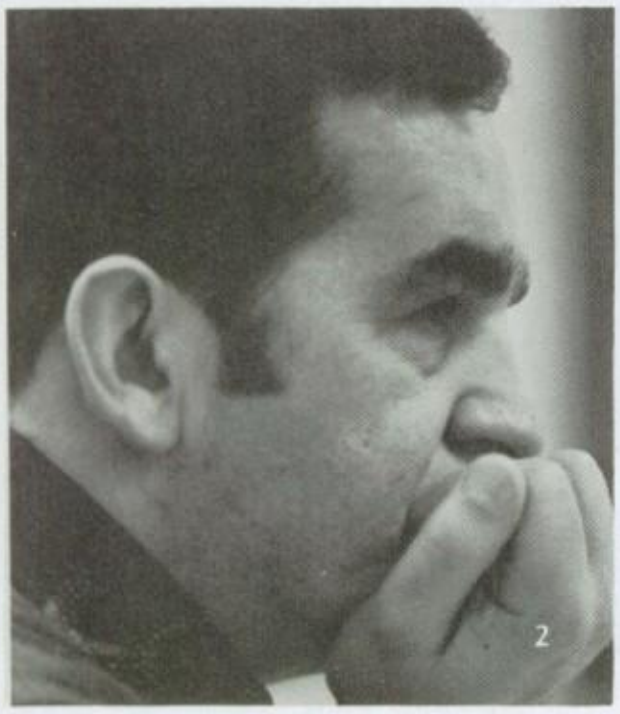
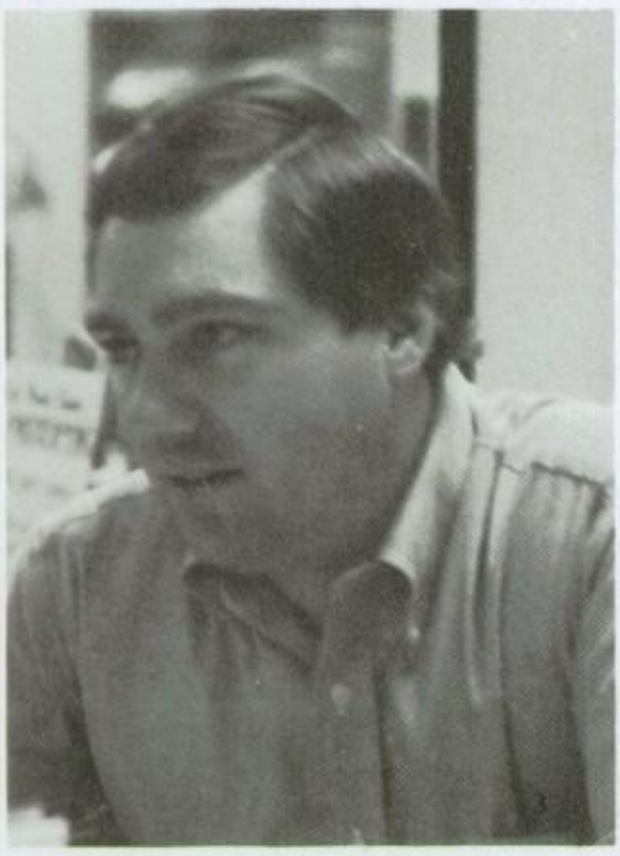
Social Studies





What department holds classes in history and world area studies? As anyone at GHS can tell you, its the Social Studies Department. What they may neglect to tell you, however, is that upperclassmen can also choose elective courses ranging from sociology and economics to the study of population and environmental problems.

The location? Although the open area causes some noise problems, it offers students an atmosphere that is much more comfortable and cheery than the rooms in the older part of the building. At the beginning of each new year, classes are updated wherever possible. Teachers go over their materials and decide which worked well with the students and which could be discarded. The Social Studies Department has proven that even "dull, old history" can be fresh and exciting.

Chairperson Wayne Kannel is a prime example that teachers have changed their view of teaching, too. Mr. Kannel stated: "I hope that I've become less autocratic and have a more student centered than teacher centered classroom." Furthermore, he believes "... that students have more to say about what they learn and how they learn than formerly.

It is true that many of the Social Studies teachers have tried new techniques to get their students more interested in their classes. These techniques include the use of A.V. materials and simulation games concerned with national and international problems. In these games, students represent the nations at conflict and attempt to discover how a solution could be reached. Students seem to be responding positively to these new aides, too. As one Senior phrased it, "The films we see and simulation games we play now are much more interesting than just reading out of a book like we did in grade school."

Check out the Social Studies Department these days. You'll find new things are happening all the time.

Recently, Greenfield citizens have become concerned with the question "Why can't Johnny read?" High school students nationwide have graduated without enough reading ability to fill out a job application. Parents are now asking if this is a major problem at GHS. Some accuse the high school of offering too many "easy" English courses, like Mass Media, Film Appreciation, Poetry, and Drama, instead of more courses covering the basics. ssistant Superintendent Ronald Wojak has denied this accusation, as have many of the teachers. They contend that the English Department continues to offer courses in English Usage, Composition I and II, American Literature, and Honors Literature II. Ms. Sandra Daebler was hired especially to help students improve their reading skills. Her goal is to have the students in her classes reading at their highest possible level. She would "also like them to leave with a better outlook on reading a book . . . " As in past years, the basics are still being taught.

Department teachers haven't stayed with the methods of the past, though. Chairperson Emmy Theisen states: "I've become more concerned with the process of learning, rather than just with the body of knowledge ... to be taught, more tolerant of the rhythms of educational movements as well as the rhythms of learning itself."

One development that has caused a change in the learning process is the increased availability of A.V. equipment for student use. Mass Media and Filmmaking classes are no longer just told how commercials or movies are made. They are now given the equipment to make their own. The Writing for Publication class produces Breakthru each year, and this magazine features samples of the poetry, photos, artwork and short stories of GHS students. Another fairly new educational movement is towards greater opportunity for students to communicate how they feel. Often students keep journals in which they write their personal reactions to what they've learned, and group discussions are held frequently in most classes.

This openness in the learning process is matched not only by the freedom of movement the new area offers, but also by the openness in the attitude of the teachers. Rob Szymanski says, "I used to 'distance' myself from my students; now I try to get close. I do this 'cause I believe it makes teaching (life) more interesting and real learning more possible."

Whether interested in learning the basics of planning to branch out to other areas, the Greenfield student will be able to find the proper atmosphere and the right teachers in the English Department.

You come through the set of double doors and suddenly you are traveling through sunny Spain, or you may choose to linger a while in romantic Rome. Next, on to France; the home of fine food and fabulous Paris. Last but not least, you're in Germany, where grandiose castles blend well with the quaint villages along the Rhine.

Any one of these places can be yours when you take a foreign language. They have much more to offer than just learning how to conjugate strong verbs or how to find the masculine article for a noun in the accusative case. They offer a closer look at the people, places, customs, and food of each country. If you're really interested you may even be able to take a voyage to the land of your studies, for German and Spanish classes offer trips during Easter vacation.

Gerda Christen, Department Chairperson, talks about some of the goals she has for her students: "After having been in my classes I might hope that the students had mastered to a degree the language they chose to study, and broadened their cultural horizons and their understanding in each culture." Ms. Christen likes her job, too. She feels that "the daily contact with young, eager minds makes teaching enjoyable."

So now you know what you need to know; give Deutsch, Español, Francais or Lingua Latina a try.

Media Center

It's no coincidence that the Media Center is located in the center of the high school or the middle of the academic section of this book. It has resource materials for all classes taught at GHS. Besides books and magazines, there are encyclopedias, newspapers, picture files, pamphlets, professional magazines and audio/visual equipment that can be used to listen to cassettes or view filmstrips. If you have a paper to write, a project to do, or an assignment to complete, the library is the place to go. If you need help finding the right materials, the librarians are always happy to lend a hand.

Driver's Ed.

Driver's Education doesn't mean just learning how to handle a car on the road. In the classroom, steadiness, reflexes, vision and distance perception are all checked. Students learn about hazards on the road and automotive systems under the hood. Those infamous films also show what can happen to a reckless, irresponsible, or drunk driver.

Range and on-the-road practice starts every March for sophomores, and for upperclassmen who missed the program earlier. Here are a few tips for the beginners: Never cross the railroad tracks on the range without stopping. Never go up the curb and run over the instructor's foot while parallel parking. Never ever go over the speed bumps at 60 m.p.h. If you get all this right, you're a cinch to pass your test! Of course, it helps to study your Moterist's Handbook . . .

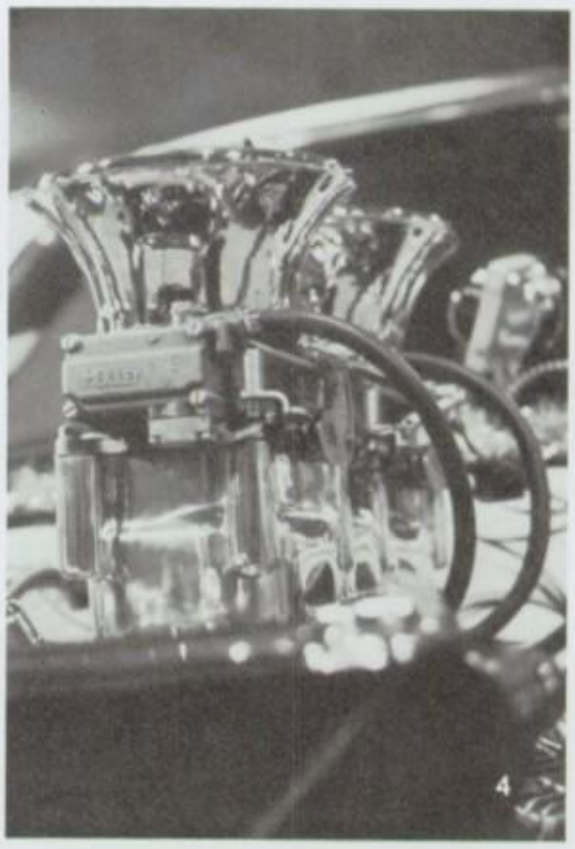
Health

Health is no longer a class that teaches just nutrition or good personal hygiene. It's also a study of some of today's worst social problems, and a mini-course in psychology. Various aspects of alcoholism and venereal diseases are discussed, as well as defense mechanisms, manic-depression, schizophrenia and paranoia. Health classes and special programs held after school that are open to the community teach students more about their world. These special programs have already covered such important issues as smoking, alcohol, drug abuse and breast cancer. Aspects such as these would probably not have been mentioned twenty years ago, but this information is vital for one living today.



Physical Ed.

You may remember that at the time the new addition was being built, in 1975, the Physical Education Department wished the school also had enough money to add onto the existing gym facilities. For many years, the department longed for a diving pool adjacent to the present swimming pool, a larger area for gymnastics, and more tennis courts. As you probably know, one of these dreams has finally come true. GHS now has ten new tennis courts.

The six old courts — cracked, not level, facing into the sun — were destroyed during the summer to make room for the new ones. Not only are the present courts level and facing the proper direction (north/south), they are also lighted for night use.

Other changes have come about in the Phy. Ed. Department this past year. Classes no longer meet every other day, alternating with Health, Driver's Education or Study Hall. They now meet every day for a semester, and then students switch over to another class for the second semester. Gym classes are all co-ed now, with both sexes choosing from a wide variety of team or individual sports. Freshmen and sophomore classes learn basic skills for better hand-and-eye coordination, while juniors and seniors participate in more advanced sports.

What courses can you choose from? Everything from archery to volleyball, with basketball, bowling, gymnastics, softball, swimming and, of course, tennis in between.

1. Al Trotalli: Athletic Director. 2. Lowell Littaritz: Department Chairperson, Tennis, Bowling, Volleyball, Speedball, Basketball, Pool, Archery. 3. Reaching for a rebound. 4. Math

Simplify: $\frac{2^{-n} \cdot 8^{2n+1} \cdot 16^{2n}}{4^{3n}}$

In case you haven't brushed up on your algebra lately, the answer to this problem just happens to be 2^{7n+3}. You knew that all along, right? Well, if you didn't, don't despair. Although you may be one of those people who have never been very good at discerning the hypotenuse of a right triangle from the scalar components of a vector, there is help available. The place for you to go is the north side of the quadrangle. Yes, whether you need advice concerning consumer problems, or you have a question about probability and statistics, you can find the class you need in the Math Department.

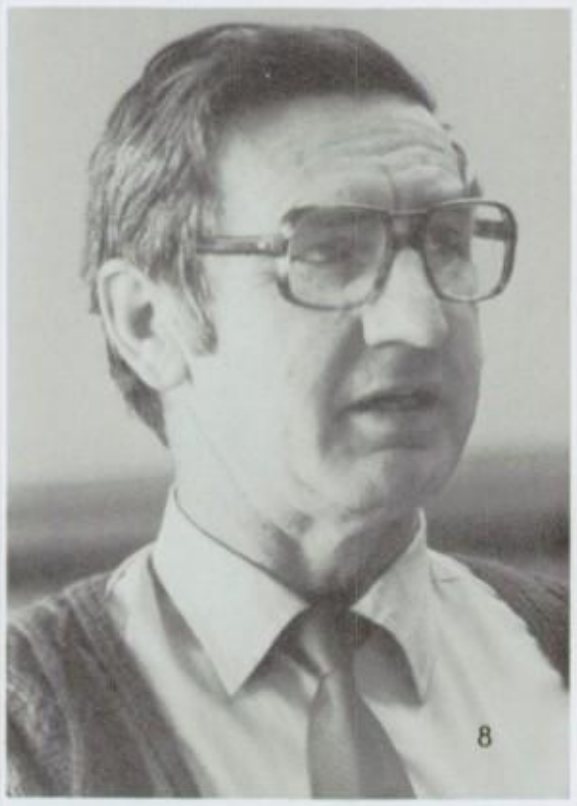
When you consider the practical side of taking math classes, you'll find you can't go wrong. Besides satisfying any personal curiosity you may have about mathematical functions, the usefulness of learning how to logically solve problems can't be underestimated. Just remember this: A little math today can keep the "fuzzies" away!

You'll also find some interesting equipment to make solving those difficult problems easier. The Math Department has a Programmable Calculator that not only stores instructions, but also deals Blackjack! It's used in quite a few classes for solving logic and statistics problems.

If you're worried about being expected to do more than you think you can handle, Daniel Karrels has some reassuring words. When asked how his teaching methods have changed over the years he replied, "I . . . have become more tolerant of students' attitudes and behavior when it varies from what I expect." Department Chairperson Karrels hopes that his students have enjoyed his classes, and that they have "developed enough interest so that they will continue to study mathematics if they are capable."



1. Daniel Karrels: Functions, Analytic Geometry, Calculator Applications, Probability and Statistics, Pre-Algebra. 2. Al Halstead: Algebra II, Business Math, General Math. 3. Betty Hinds: Geometry, Honors Geometry, General Math. 4. The Programmable Calculator. 5. Harold Hoffman: PreAlgebra, General Math. 6. William Lind: Geometry, General Math, Algebra. 7. Science

If you were to ask students what they felt taking science classes involved, you would probably hear answers like "solving problems and memorizing equations," "conducting experiments," and "doing research work." It is very unlikely you would hear anyone say that science involved individual creativity and freedom of choice, but these are a part of science, too. Impossible, you say? Let's consider the facts.

The first step a scientist takes before beginning an experiement is, of course, to decide what he personally wants to find out. In each branch of science there are hundreds of thousands of as yet unanswered questions, and from among these the scientist chooses that which he is most interested in

Industrial Arts

There is a department in this school that is so overcrowded it has to hold an eight-period day to accomodate everyone in enrolled in its classes. It's the Industrial Arts Department.

According to Principal Richard Roth, an addition onto the Industrial Arts Department has top priority on the list of needed facilities and equipment for the school. The enrollment in this area has been on the increase for many years, but it's rising even more sharply now because more and more girls are taking I.A. classes.

What is this Department offering that's attracting so many students? Besides Woods, Metal Fabrication, Blueprint Reading and Drafting, there is also Vocational On-the-job Training. This program has expanded greatly since its inception in 1975. And why not? Not only are you trained for a career, you get paid too! Now that's a deal you can't get everywhere!

If Industrial Arts is a field you've been looking into, don't let the crowds scare you away. There is sure to be room for you, as long as you don't mind the possibility of having to stay after school.

Business Education

Project Invest, one of the courses offered by the Business Education Department, simulates an actual insurance company — Big "I" Insurance — and its branches. Each year 17 students are specially selected for this class among a number of applicants. During the course of the year, Project Invest students rotate positions held within the company in order to gain a working experience of all aspects of the insurance business.

Distributive Education students are either employed to work in the school store, The Hawk's Nest, or are given jobs at various companies in the Milwaukee area. They learn the techniques involved in merchandising, business management and administration. On-the-job training provides students with an excellent opportunity to give business careers a try before deciding whether to continue with this course of study after graduation.

Of course, neither of these programs is new to the Business Education Department, but small improvements are being made in the curriculum each year. These changes are necessary because the kind of student enrolling in department courses has changed. These students are no longer just girls who want to become secretaries or stenographers. They are both guys and girls interested in vocational fields ranging from insurance sales to business administration.

1. Donna Batker: Department Chairperson, Cooperative Education, Data Processing, Personal Typing, Bookkeeping, On-the-job Training. 2. Sue Burch: Distributive Education I, II, On-the-job Training. 3. Julie Murray checks her typing for errors. 4. Julie Wickham and Donna Peach get to work in Project Invest. 5. Charlene Geier/David Ness: Office Simulation (Project Invest), Personal Typing, Office Machines, Shorthand I, Typing I. 6. Lawrence Hanlon: Bookkeeping, Recordkeeping, Business Law. 7. Diane Muehlbauer bites her lip in concentration during typing class. 8. Sue Kwiecien: Office Training, Shorthand I, II, Typing. 9. Mary Nowak: Typing, Personal Typing, Office Training. 10. Nancy Welker guards the Hawk's Nest during the day. 11. Mary Lindenberg taps away at those keys in Office Training.

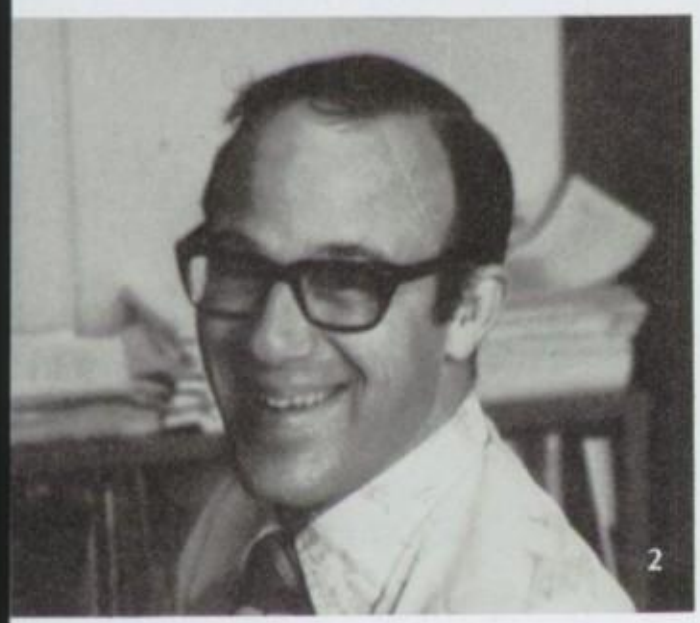
Home Economics

When GHS first held classes in 1957, the Home Economics Department's chief objective was to teach young women how to be good homemakers and understanding mothers. Today the department's goals are broader, and its curriculum covers a wider range of subjects to meet these goals. Now you'll find both guys and girls learning together so later they'll be able to make it on their own. Home Ec. courses not only teach the old standbys (like cooking, sewing and child care), they also give tips on how to be a smart consumer and how to get along better with others.

What does Ruth Teclaw, Department Chairperson, think the difference is between students of today and those of many years ago? "Students need more motivation now than they did when I first started teaching .... Today I am more aware of each individual student's needs and make a real effort to help each one learn to his fullest potential."

If you've always thought of Home Ec. as being dull and stuffy, take a closer look. It has been keeping up with the times.

1. Ruth Teclaw: Clothing I, II, III, IV, Interior Decorating II, Foods A. 2. Jeanne Davidson: Foods A, Advanced Foods, Child Development I. 3. Jill Schuh: Foods A, Child Development I, II. 4. Mary Fisher and Linda Curry enjoy themselves in Foods class. 5. Sue Slauson: Family Living I, II, Foods B, Advanced Foods, Clothing I.



Guidance

The Guidance Department has seen a change in responsibility, according to Chairperson Warren Rebholz. Near the close of the 1975-76 school year the counseling system was revised. Counselors no longer take charge of one class through its four years at GHS, they now handle students according to alphabetical groups. Each member of the department is responsible for students from all grade levels. This keeps them more attuned to the needs of all the students, instead of ust those at a certain grade level. What does this mean for you? It means your counselor can better guide you through four years of programming, as well as with choosing a career after graduation.

Special Ed.

Like most GHS Students, you probably don't know much about the Special Education classes. The Department planned it that way. Many of the students involved in the Special Ed. programs are also students in "regular" classes. The teachers want these students to blend in with their other students or in other words, receive special help without getting special attention.

The Special Education Department was originally set-up because state law requires school districts to provide the education necessary for students with learning handicaps. At GHS, this Department includes Special Education, Behavioral Disabilities and Learning Disabilities classes.

1. Warren Rebholz: Department Chairperson, Students S - Z. 2. Dale Haymann: Students A - G. 3. Robert Lecher: Students H - L. 4. Diane Wirth: Students M - R. 5. James Blackstone: Behavioral Disabilities. 6. Jeff McCabe: Special Education. 7. Shari Griggs: Ass't. to Mr. McCabe. 8. Sandra Paris: Learning Disabilities.

Baseball

For memory's sake, you cruise past GHS on a summer evening. The parking lot is half full so you stop to see what's happening.

If this is Tuesday, it must be a Hawks' baseball game. You stop and watch for awhile. You sit down just as Chris McConville is batting. The pitch is good, and you hear the loud crack! as the ball goes long and hard over the opposing team's heads. You hear yourself screaming as he runs around the bases. The game ends with another Hawk victory. As you're leaving the field, you hear Coach Benevides congratulating his team on their excellent game.

The Hawks continue their fine effort throughout the season, and finish with a 10-6 record with the help of their four all-conference players Chris McConville, Bob McCormick, Rob Schwalbach and Tom Wehr. On a later summer evening you hear they go to conference, beat Franklin, (5-2) and lose to Grafton by a mere run.

Boy's Tennis

Here in Greenfield we've built tough teams, teams that have brought home first place in conference for the past four years.

This year the Hawks brought home a second place victory, allowing Greendale and New Berlin West to share a first place tie.

Senior Pat Kline and sophomore Tom Komassa each won gold medals in first and second singles.

Even though we're number two, we're still number one in spirit.

Girls Tennis

You may need a Bjorn Borg racket, or Adidas shoes, or even a Chrissy Evert tennis dress, but you don't need tennis courts as the 1977 girls tennis team proved this year. They held home meets at Whitnall High School because of delayed construction on the new courts. Even without Chrissy Evert tennis dresses, the girls took a close conference second to Greendale and a 5-1 season total.

Spirited third doubles team, Jane Peterson and Carrie Vanek, took first place medals. The others took seconds.

Mary Kline was voted most valuable player and Coach Betty Hinds most inconvenienced coach.

Boy's Track

Are you tired of the same old run-around, tired of not being in the headlines? Well, here's a team that does it for you. The 1977 track team (led by Ron Olsen, Steve Ladwig, Dan Rychwalski) had plenty of headlines and chalked up two conference records: Jeff Duros, 65 yd. dash in 7.1 seconds and state qualifier Dan Rychwalski, 330 low hurdle in 39.2 seconds. They also posted four school records: Dan Bartoshevich 2 miles in 9:47.2 seconds; Ron Olson with a vault of 14'0"; (and a second place finish in the state meet); Dan Rychwalski with 14.7 seconds in the 120 high hurdles and 39.2 in the 330 low hurdles. Equipped with two state qualifiers, this team had a final of 4th place indoor, 3rd in the Varsity relays, and 5th in the tough outdoor season.

Girl's Track

The team is set. The signals are called. The girl's track team is off to another season. The confidence that they had in winning the Parkland Conference was not enough, as they placed seventh out of ninth. Still they kept trying. And still Mary Tewelis, Janet Mueller and Denise Schreiber were recognized as the lead runners on Coach Haymann's team.

1. Meet new friends.
2. Learn to work with each other.
3. Help lead your team to a repeat record of 9-4 or better.
5. Be regional champs again.
6. Develop your softball skills.
7. Test your ability.
8. Take a challenge!

Golf

Businessmen do it on Saturdays. Doctors do it on Wednesdays. G.H.S. does it in the fall. It's golf for those of you who like to relax, be outdoors and still compete a little.

Are you one of those that qualify? Larry Surges was! He was named most valuable player of the Varsity team. Tom Komassa was! As captain he led the team for a 4-3-1 record with J.V. placing 4-4.

So why not get out now and do it!

Coach Dale Haymann's "have fun while you train" technique is the major achievement in Cross Country running. This truly remarkable technique actually grabs the runner, conditions him, sharpens him, tones him, and locks in the fine performance.

THE FUN TECHNIQUE WORKS TO KEEP THE RUNNERS CONSISTENT.

Inconsistency can occur when the runners race poorly or get injured. Haymann's technique constantly controls inconsistency and actually adjusts it before the next race.

A NEW-TEASE-THE-COACH ACT DESIGNED TO KEEP EVERYONE LOOSE

"I'm disappointed!" or "I'm very pleased!" were two of Haymann's most often-said sentences. The team picked it up, and by the end of the year, everyone imitated him. The team invites you to test the fun technique and judge for yourself!

Varsity Football

You say you're plagued with mental mistakes, lack of size and a lost chance for a repeated championship. Is that what's bothering you? Well, the Hawks won a tightrope Homecoming game, and ran over St. Francis 27-0. So they didn't repeat a championship title. Well, nobody's perfect. The Hawks had a respectable year, and maybe the leadership of this year's seniors and coaches will point next year's team towards the title. With plenty of potential and gamebreaking speed, let's hope they can put it all together next year.

J.V. And Freshmen Football

Make excellent use of your time. Be a football player. So the practices are rough, and the conditioning grueling, but it's worth it to be a champ as this year's J.V. football team has found out. They placed 1st in Conference, with halfback Arnie Kaun leading the team in touchdowns and yards gained. Wouldn't it be nice to discover that the time you spent working hard for a team was time spent so well?

It's the sound of the gun. The race is off. A dive, a stroke, a flip, a flop. It's all guaranteed and no one guarantees it better than Greenfield.

A guarantee is one thing to say and another to back up. Greenfield has the coach, team and potential to back up their guarantee.

For many years Greenfield has had a successful team and this year the tradition was also carried on. Mark Schrank, Dave Volland and Tom Huber all qualified for State.

Next time you are a at a meet don't forget-Greenfield is guaranteed to win.

1. VARSITY TOP ROW: Jeff Henkel, Ralph Rutzen, Jim Barnes, Steve Prodoehl, John Drzewiecki, Doug Tostrud, Dean Forrest, Mark Schrank, Tom Huber. Girl's Gymnastics

The important word for the Girls Gymnastics team is practice-they never stop practicing.

At Greenfield, the Gymnasts know that practice is what makes a perfect team. And along with practice and perfection comes the potential to go to state.

Gymnastics Coach Ingnd Turk has produced a team that has brought home many medals and have had many outstanding performances.

Captains Pam Esser and Michelle DePont know that practice has made this year's team perfect.

Gymnasts who demand perfection, desire competition and enjoy strenuous gymnastic exercises, and come out on top. That's an accurate description of this year's boys gymnastics. The team is young but Coach Felske feels it is important "to learn things the right way the first time." These gymnasts dedicate themselves to the art and eventually step into the winners's circle.

Varsity Basketball

They call themselves a fine defensive team who also play an offensive position. Their game happens to be basketball, and they do more than just play the game. They put their knowledge to work in team development and improvement, constantly proving to themselves and others that they have the potential to meet the competition. They are more than just another basketball team. They call themselves the Hawks.

Girl's Basketball

Long hours of practice. Running, dribbling, lay-up and pivots. Coming home hungry and exhausted.

What for?

All for the thrills and satisfaction of a GHS Girls Basketball victory. Despite their deserate attempts at winning, the GHS team (under the direction of Coach Miss Ruth Spaude) didn't go home feeling the thrills of victory. Their record was 6-10.

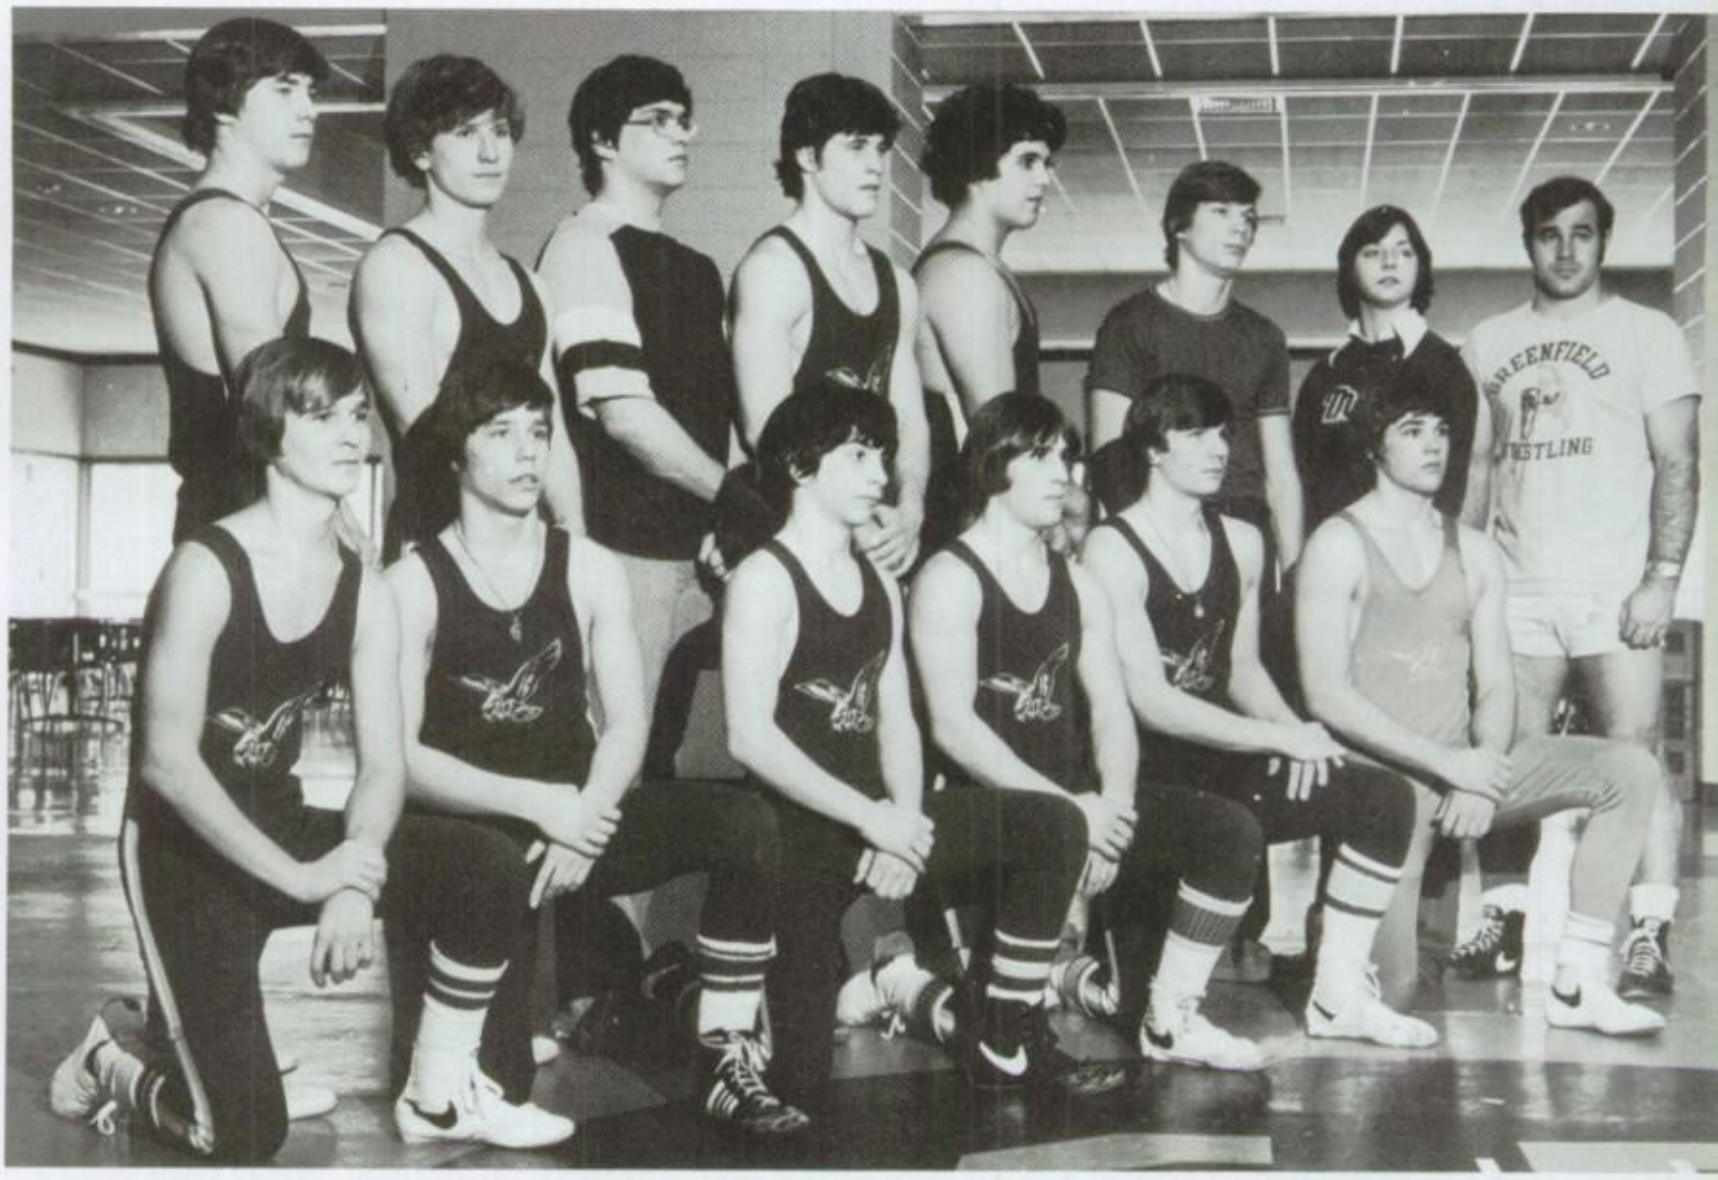
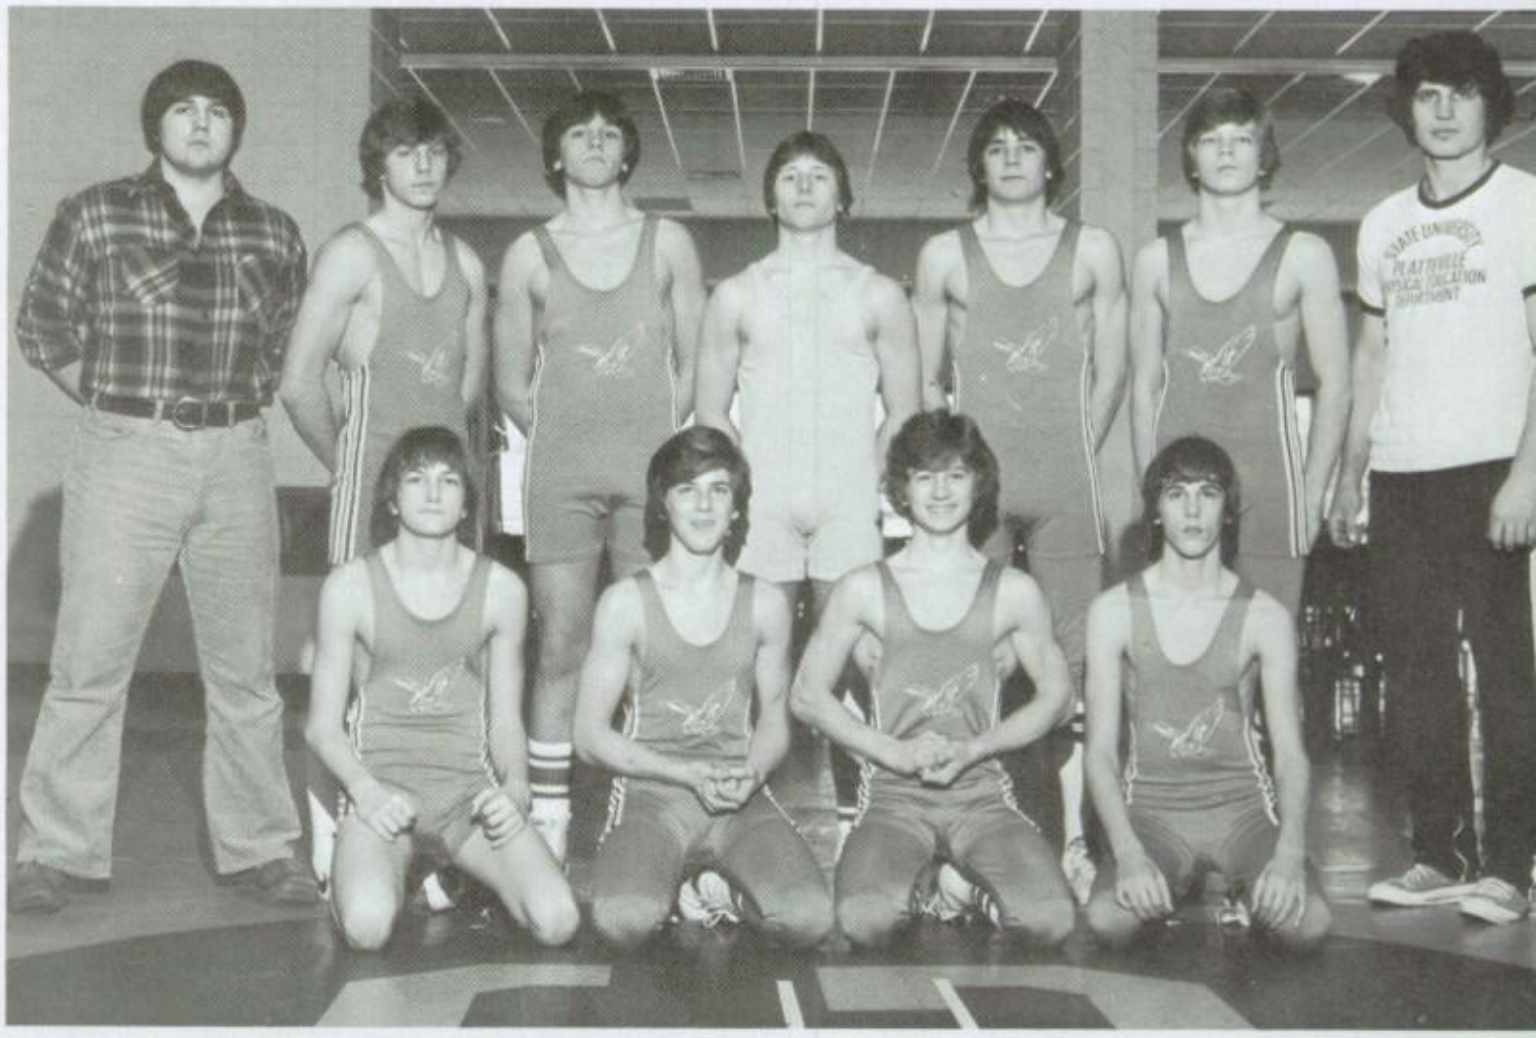
Wrestling





Ever need a cure for inexperience, injuries and a tough conference? Well Coach Robert Austin of Greenfield's wrestling team has searched for one this season and came up empty handed. After a disappointing 0-6-1 duel meet conference record and a seventh placing in Parkland Conderence, he's looking for a cure that can only come with time. Hopefully time and healing will produce that cure by the 1978-1979 season and make Greenfields' Wresling team well again.

I sure wish we could have our old days same spot of the room in History class - Mister's class was really a gas - and that prom we could have been a whole lot more fun! Oh well, have a great summer!!
Love to
Sel Ute

Jorie,
I'm really glad that I got to know you this year. You're a really great person,
I can tell that even though I don't know you that well. I hope to see you in some of my classes
next year. The best of luck in everything.
Love,
Margit

Aren't you glad you bought the '78 Spectrum? Don't you wish everyone did?
When school and friends are far away, yearbooks are the next best thing to being there.
You just moved to the other side of the state. You're in school, and miss them. You had a lot of good times together. You talked and laughed and listened to each other. You had a good thing going. Those times don't have to stop. Pick up your yearbook. Things are looking up! Yearbooks are the next best thing to being there.

SPECTRUM

Love ya lots
Hey Kee!
Have fun in Okla. I'll miss you Much luck in your
Same old shit
We did it! Kinda glad
I'm going to be with
Dear hope you have all the

Jorie,
It's really been great knowing you. Thanks alot for warning me what was going on in History. You really are a super person and I hope to see you next year. Have a super-sunny summer and Good Luck always.
Love,
Dawn Stubbs

Jorie,
I still remember when you first came here & it's been really nice having you here. I hope you plan on coming here next year, if you do I'll see you around.
Love
Dottie

Jorie
Its been a fun year & haven't known you very long but I think your a super nice & sweet your a such a little person
Take Love
Care Sandi
Shymanski

Jorie,
Well what can I say? I think your a super good friend (even though you get on my case) just kidding. Hope to see you when I get back from Cal. & next year. Live, your friend always, Karen
P.S. Good luck with Jeff & don't even say your gonna break up cuz you aren't!

Jorie,
I'm really glad I met you & this year, I hope we're friends, we can be. You really have a nice & great summer person.
Daddy B. Longlocks

Jorie, you made 6th hour a little more bearable. Hope you enjoy the rest of your school year as much as I did. Look forward to seeing you next year. Have a nice summer.
Love Chris Nicholson

Jorie,
I later with you'll
I Hope you
fun this summer
with Jeff. Maybe
I'll see you!

Paul Stupek

Jorie
I know you will treasure this autograph in the years to come. Maybe when I'm rich and famous you can trade it in for cash! Until then good luck with the rest of your years at G.H.S.
Be good, but most of all have fun!!!
your friend ..

Jorie, really glad I got to know you this year. Hope you have a nice summer, and have a great senior year.
Sue Nicholson (80)

Jorie, it's been fun
knowing you this year.
I'm glad we have
that Karate BOND!
Have a really nice summer and next year!
Love,
Lisa

Jorie,
Thanks for being a friend
all our years together.
Have a great summer
and I hope we can have more classes
together next year.
Have a good summer.

Jorie,

I'm glad I met you this year. Too bad your not in more of my classes. But Study Hall was fun. (or whatever) Maybe next year I'll get to see you more often.

Good Luck Always,

Heidi

Jorie,
You're a really sweet girl & I hope you keep in touch over the summer. (Ask 8219)
Keep Cool
Lee

Dorie,
I have enjoyed having you in my class. You have been very friendly, considerate, and have worked hard also. Have a good summer and good luck in the future.
Mr. Kirby
